PUBLIC AUCTION.

THE B. W & Co. Patent Thermosaleguard,
I-FEEDING HOTTLE. Artificial feeding is far from being considered as prejudicial to health. The conviction is more and more frequently finding utterance from Physicians specially acquainted with this subject that feeding by means of a good bottle, such as the B. W. & Co. Patent Thermoenteguard, is to be preferred to the service of a wet nurse. Cow's milk previously predigested with a Zymine Peptenizing Powder is preferred to mother's milk in cases where this is not of normal quantity & quality. The bottle has thermometer embedded in the glass; it is also graduated it ounces, so that the precise amount of food administered can be observed. The Edinburgh Medical Journal pronounces it "the best of all feeding bottles."-Supplied by all Chemists. h2

THE long continued drought and the consequent scarcity of good pure water has served to impress upon the Authorities and people yesterday, before Mr. A. G. Wise, on a charge of Canton the desirability of supplementing the supply of water there for potable purposes. The Cantonese have never troubled port of the charge. A fine of $1 had been in themselves very actively on the subject, for although the well-to-do classes can appreciate the blessing of pure spring water, and many of them send a considerable distance for their supplies, the mass of the working population draw upon the turbid and by no means sweet water of the river for cooking and drinking purposes. That they are not more frequently victims of typhoid fever is due no doubt to the fact that they rarely the Government have gone to in order to and military—went to P'n K'o to meet him, meeting he would like to propose with a view to fore the action commenced. ensure a copious supply of good and uncontaminated wat r, and they know that at south to visit his native home in Anhul prior to stitution of Marine Engineers of Hongkong" to Shanghai, where the conditions are similar his leaving for the "Land of the Ricing Sun." to those prevailing in the City of Rame, a supply of good water has been secured by on Tuesday evening for the performance of thought it would give a more comprehensive was then called and said that on the 18th Movember liable ground the Ladition has taken root than the finding himself minus his shoes when the filtration of water from the river Professor and Madame Vita and their Juveville sphere to the lipstitute, and would allow many to be went to the shipping officer with the past the heavy, raine processor with the past to the shipping officer with the past to the shipping officer with the past of the heavy, raine processor with the past of the past Whang-poo some distance above the Settle- Frompe. TOBACCO PLANTING IN BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.

The Deli Courant of the 8th November las contains a leading article on British North Borneo, especially in regard to the cultivation of tobacco in that part of the world; which appears to be written in an impartial spirit, and is well worthy the attention of our readers. The following is a faithful translation of the article in question :-

SIR,—There appears to be a pretty-general accordance of opinion that this celebration should not be of a merely evanescent character; a pageant or tablean appearing for a little while and then lost in the clouds, leaving no trace behind; that what is done should be of a useful and lasting character. It seems also to be regarded as an axiom that the object should be one in the benefits of which all may share, natives as we as for igners. This is in strict accordance with the original principle of the Jubilee, which was his baby shall signify the contrary by refusing one of equalisation and distribution, by which the inequalities of position, from whatever cause arising, ware from time to time redressed. If the principle is adopted that all the inha bitants of the colony participate in the benefits

We want a little variety. For many years past the use of from the manly path, and there is at least but does not give the dittle place a very sociable | borses in the colony has been dying out. The Mr. Mossop said the plaintiff signed articles sepect. The noisy business like scenes which sumus races bring them for a little while into favour, but for real use horses are nowhere pow. On account of the increase in population in Victoria, riding and driving through the town bas not the charm it once had, when twenty enringes might be seen at one time gathered at the "third turn" upon the Eastern Road and parties of ladies and gentlemen on horseback were daily seen. Could anything be done to which all the nations of the earth can meet, and revive this? I think it might. It was quite pleasing a few evenings ago to see one of the differs of the garrism escorting two fair comor passage money. To the plaintiff the orptain little excursions, as they have every opportunity panions along the Queen's Boat East. How delightful it would be to see this b autiful exercise again in fashion, instead of long strings ponies with their rugs on taking walking xercise night after night all the year through. The China Mail has put forward an excellent idea, originating, I believe, with a gentleman in the office of Mesers, Holliday, Wise & Co., that the Jubiles of Hongkong should be celebrated by the completion of the road round the Island. Truly this appears to have much to recommend

We should no longer have ponies selling at ive and ten dollars each. A day's holiday would no more be a useless thing, but for all who can sit a horse, a most delightful opportunity refreshment and much needed change Every young lady in the colony would then have her habit, and they would not want for willing cavaliers. The road should have trifling up dulations, but all severe gradients should avoided. We could not therefore make use of the present road to Aberdeen, but from Green Island to Shaukiwan it is already made, and this would perhaps be about one-third of the distance. What charm would be given to our picnic parties could we go out east and return by the There would soon be a half-way house at Stanley. The distance could be accomplished in the day. A good and vigorous rider would do it in the afternoon, returning home to dinner. And for those who had not horses the jinricksha would form a capital substitute. In Japan two men will carry forty miles, and in Hongkong three men would easily do the round in the day. What an outing, and all for one dollar and a balf, less than so many spend in an evening in billlards and drink, all for want of some more active occupation. Every one knows the difference between going out and coming brok the same way, and going out and returning by a different routs. THE EMPEROR OF CHINA AND OFFICIAL PECULATION

The subject of peculation has acquired a Emperor, whose repeated attacks on the system give gratifying evidence of a resolution on his indeed is more interesting at this inneture of honest rule. The seductions of Uriental Court ground for hope that, after a long interval, a really great and beneficent Emperor is enthroned in Chiua. The power of a resolute and straightforward ruler to renovate the institutions of the country cannot be estimated; and his crusade against official corruption will be watched with peculiar attention because it is a matter in which foreigners as well as natives can intelligently there is no essential difference in the principles of probity between East and West.

What strikes as as noteworthy in the recent Edicts is their candid admission that the habits of the Government officials are quite well known to the Emperor, because that seems to be breaking through the barrier which is popularly supposed to stand between the Throne and the peccant bareaucracy. It would be rash to assume that the Emperor possesses the staying power to combat. and subdue the myriad headed monster. whose recources are infinite, and which has acquired by prescription and even by purchase Hegal but comnived at, the right to support its innumerable families by plunder. Yet if the Emperor is sincers, and shows himself strong, he willswrely attract to his support that body of latent sentiment existing in China as elsewhere which makes for purily, and an appeal to the loyalty of the official classes, especially if accompanied by some companisatory reforms in the system of emoluments, might even awake enthusiasm. It is at any rate a good sign that His Majesty does not begin by denouncing maipractices on the Yunnan frontier. but in the capital itself and the metropolitan province. Thanks to the inundation of the present year, the chronic deficit in the Government rice granuries has been exposed, and a thorough investigation into that abuse, which will implicate a whole army of important officials, will doubtless open up other veins of enquiry which, if followed up, would lead to astonishing results. The robbery of the tribute rice and the system of signing bogus certificates for the quantity in granary has been carried on with comical transparency for such a length of time that the officials concerned may feel aggriced at the ill-timed interference. Unly once before in recent years have they had reason to be apprehensive, on the score of their delinquancies, namely, in 1885, when the French betbought them of the vulnerable point in China, and put an embargo on the Governimportation would, it was feared, lead to the public discovery that the grain actually in store on the certificates algued and sealed by the Government Inspectors, and it was believed at the time to be the dread of this discovery and the influential personages who would have been involved in the disgrace that caused the pressureto be brought on the Throne, which forced the Empress to make peace at any price, even in the spoken of by His Imperial Majesty, the plunder of the funds contributed for the relief of the poor. This, one would think, would be the unpardonable sin in China; but it is not so, for the iniquity is carried on in the most impodent and shameless manner by the officials-we draw the line at them-who have anything to do with the distribution of charity. Officials we have seen eagerly surrender locrative appointments in order to be employed in famine work, which is much more profitable. The attack on this abuse probably involves a campaign extending over a wider area than that of the grain robbery, and it would be more difficult to run the enemy to earth. The frightful expenditure on the Yellow River works, and the notogious fact that the officials concerned make fortunes out of it, has perhaps by the more pressure on the Imperial finances compelled attention to the waste; but, whatever may be the moving cause, the are is laid at the root of that tree also, and it will be interesting to watch the successive strokes. We are by no means sanguine that the whole excitement against corruption, will not subside as so, many other frothy pretences at reform have done, for the no determination be come to cutil the arrival of Emperor is young and the offenders are old and Sir Wim Des Vour, as we have the whole of crafty, most expert in the act of doubling on their pursuers, and numerous enough to defeat all attempts to reform them. We do not forget the instructive experience of Kien-lung, who, becoming exasperated at the perversity and corruption of the Chakiang Guild, who filled all the subordinate posts in the Board of Revenue, sent the whole lot of them away and forbade them to re-enter the city. These wise men, however, as adhesive The launch carried off by pirates some weeks as an old Scotch retainer, retired to a short possession of the offices, though their cup of planity has been overflowing all the time.
